ADVERTISING MAN TO MAKE ADDRESS

Head of National Publicity Organization Guest of Richmond Advertisers' Club.

GEORGE W. COLEMAN.

George W. Coleman, president of the Associated Advertising Clubs of America, will be the guest of honor of the Richmond Advertisers' Club at a smoker to be given on Friday night at the Jefferson Hotel Auditorium to the business men of the city. He will make an address on the subject, "The New Day in Advertising."

The executive committee and officers of the Advertisers' Club will meet at 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the rooms of the Business Men's Club to arrange details of entertainment. It is planned to make the Jefferson Hotel meeting one of the big events in the club's 1913 calendar.

Mr. Coleman has been president of the Associated Advertising Clubs of America since August, 1911. His experience in publicity work was gained through a recent year's connection with the Christian Endeavor World as advertising manager and publisher, as assistant editor of the Journal of Education, a position he held for four years, and as business manager for two years of the New England Magazine.

Since November 1, 1910, Mr. Coleman has been director of publicity for the W. H. McDougal Company, of Boston, manufacturers of men's shoes. He is chairman of the national publicity commission of the Men and Religious Movement, and was delegate-at-large from Massachusetts to the Republican National Convention of 1912.

WRIT GRANTED IN INSURANCE CASE

Corporation's insurable interest in life of its president Now Before Court.

The question as to whether a corporation has an insurable interest in the life of its president, was presented yesterday to the State Supreme Court of Appeals for decision, the problem being involved in the suits of the R. E. Board Motor Truck Company against the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, and Board, Armstrong & Company against the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York. The court granted writs of error and supersedeas in both appeals.

In October of 1911 the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York wrote one premium for $10,000 on the life of Benjamin F. Board, with the R. E. Board Motor Truck Company as beneficiary, and a second premium on the same day for $15,000 on Board's life with the Board, Armstrong & Company as beneficiary. In both instances the beneficiary corporations paid the initial premiums and contracted to settle other premiums as they fell due.

Board was killed on March 18, 1912, by falling sixty-two feet from a wind mill tower at night, under circumstances that led the insurance company to suspect suicide. Immediately after his death, the company refused to pay the premiums. The two cases were carried to the Circuit Court of the City of Alexandria, and the jury awarded the plaintiffs the full amount of the policies with interest in each instance. The insurance company noted an appeal, which was granted yesterday.

A third writ of error and supersedeas, which was sought by the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York in the case of Jessie D. Board, widow of B. F. Board against the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, was refused. The court held that the widow had an entirely legal insurable interest in the person of her husband, even though he may have been led to suicide. In order that his life insurance might clear his estate of financial difficulties, the amount of this policy was $5,000.

The appeal in all three cases were presented by Attorney John M. Johnson. The bond in the first case was fixed at $12,000 and in the second at $17,000.

NOT ENTITLED TO MORE MONEY

Employees Take Stand and Testify in Favor of Railroads and Against Firemen.

New York, March 22.—Employees of the Baltimore and Ohio, the Pennsylvania and the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroads took the stand before the arbitration board today to uphold the contention of the Eastern railroads, that the demands of their firemen for higher wages are not justified. It was the second day of the railroads' side of the case in the arbitration proceedings under the Erdman act. The witnesses declared that while locomotives had increased in size and burned more coal than formerly, mechanical improvements had lightened the labors of the firemen.

G. Wise, assistant road foreman of the middle division of the Pennsylvania at Altoona, Penn., and ten years a fireman, said that he did not think the firemen should share in the increased revenue of the railroads. "The stockholders have put their money in the road," he said, "and they ought to have the profits. The engines are better constructed now than they do use more coal, but they steam better."

Wise said that while working as a fireman and engineer he had saved enough to own his home. In 1902, he said, firemen drew from $30 to $50 a month, but they worked harder than the men who drew $100 a month and sometimes more.

A. E. Staudt, statistician of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, presented figures to show that two firemen on a large locomotive saved only an average of eight minutes a trip. Two firemen for the heavier engines is one of the demands of the employees. To this W. S. Carter, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, replied that the tonnage increased greatly when the additional fireman was put on.

The hearing will continue Monday.

Mrs. Post Wheeler

Rome, March 22.—Mrs. Post Wheeler, whose husband is the poetic second secretary of the American embassy, has mounted high in social favor since the Wheelers came to Rome. Recently the second secretary and his wife, who was Halie Erminie Lives, the novelist, gave a tea at their apartment in the Orsini Palace. Among the guests were the French ambassador, Camille Barrere and Mme. Barrere and Lady Greyville.

The home of the Wheelers is one of the literary centers of Rome, but their entertainments are always delightfully informal.

COMMISSION WILL MEET ON APRIL 21

Organization to Be Perfected Before Taking Up Proposed Constitutional Amendments.

JOHN SPRUNT HILL NAMED

Steady Growth in Number of Rural Libraries in Public Schools.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

Raleigh, N. C., March 22.—Governor Craig issued today a call for the members of the legislative commission on constitutional amendments to meet in Raleigh on April 21 for organization. This date has been selected after correspondence with all the eighteen members, it appearing to be the most generally convenient date. The commission is to elect a secretary at that time, and agree upon a program for sessions and hearings. It will take over the bills for amending the constitution that were introduced during the recent session of the Legislature, will hear any citizens and interests as to these, and formulate recommendations to be presented to the Governor sixty days before he issues a call for the Legislature to meet in special session. The commission also will recommend any constitutional amendments that it may consider advisable. Then the Legislature, in turn, will act upon these recommendations and consider any other amendments that members may propose at the extra session, the province of the Legislature being to provide for the people, to vote on the several amendments proposed and referred.

A commission was issued today by Governor Craig to John Sprunt Hill, of Durham, as the member on the part of North Carolina of the American commission for the study of the co-operative system of agricultural production, distribution and finances in European countries. He will sail with the commission from New York on April 28, to be abroad several months. Mr. Hill will do this work for the State at his own expense.

There is a steady growth in the number of rural libraries in the public schools of the State under the State aid system in vogue for several years past, whereby the State gives $10 toward each library, in cases where the local people raise at least that amount in addition.

There are also supplemental allowances of $5 each under certain conditions that are very generally taken advantage of. State treasury warrants were issued today for the State appropriations for thirty-four new libraries and for nine supplemental libraries. There are upwards of 3,500 rural libraries in the State at this time, and 1,500 or more have availed themselves of the advantages of the supplemental allowance as well.

There are more than 1,500 school districts in North Carolina that have a school, and the number increasing all the time.

News from the bedside of Joseph L. Seawell, clerk of the Supreme Court, is that he has triumphed over a long and painful illness, and that his illness is very serious. A consultation of several prominent physicians last evening reached the conclusion that typhoid fever is his malady, instead of catarrh of the appendix.

GEORGE P. MUNDY LANDS GOOD JOB

Former Governor's Secretary Made Clerk of Senate Committee.

George P. Mundy, who was assistant secretary to former Governor Claude A. Swanson, has been appointed clerk of the Senate Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds, of which Senator Swanson is chairman. Mr. Mundy is allowed to accept this nomination and still retain his position as private secretary to Senator Swanson.

It is understood that the clerkship carries with it a salary of $1,000. Several other names were urged for this appointment, but as the nominating power lay in the hands of the chairman, the Senator's secretary landed the job without difficulty. He was appointed within a few days after Senator Swanson was announced as chairman of the committee.

Mr. Mundy, although born in Greene County, has devoted most of his years since maturity to work in Richmond. He came here to learn stenography, and after completing his course, settled here as stenographer for an insurance firm. His work attracted the attention of Congressman Swanson, and on the latter's elevation to the Governorship, Mundy was named assistant secretary under Ben P. Owen. When Mr. Swanson's term as Governor expired, Mr. Mundy was offered a position in the office of the State Corporation Commission and remained there until the appointment of Mr. Swanson as Senator to succeed the late Senator Daniel.

Later he will be transferred to the State Hospital.

Mr. Hayes was brought back from Richmond last night. He has been in a sanatorium there for ten days, and will be taken to Morganton tomorrow.

SEARCH FOR MOONSHINERS.

Activity of Officers Causes Consternation in Mountain Sections.

Bluefields, W. Va., March 22.—Revenue officers are to-day scouring the mountains of Wise and Dickenson Counties, just over the Virginia border, in search of moonshiners. Within ten days nineteen illicit stills have been captured, and approximately 2,200 gallons of whiskey and 200 bushels of malt destroyed. Consternation reigns among the people of that section, which has long been considered the centre of the mountain moonshine district.

MISS VAN VORT TO LEAVE MEMORIAL

Resigns After Service of Ten Years to Manage Stuart Circle Hospital.

Following the meeting yesterday of the board of the Medical College of Virginia, Miss Rose Zimmern Van Vort, for nearly ten years superintendent of the Memorial Hospital, announced that she has accepted the offer to become superintendent of the handsome new private hospital now being built on Stuart Circle by a company of Richmond physicians. Her resignation, to become effective on May 21, has already been tendered the board of the hospital, and Miss Van Vort will retire from the Memorial on that date.

In resigning the directorship of the Memorial, where she has served so long, with such eminent satisfaction to the board, Miss Van Vort wishes to make plain that the union of the two medical colleges and the fact that the Memorial changes hands in the merger has not influenced her decision. She leaves the college hospital to become superintendent of a private hospital conducted by physicians with whom she has been associated for the last ten years.

The hospital which Miss Van Vort is to enter as superintendent is now in course of construction. It will be known as Stuart Circle Hospital. Thanks to its beautiful situation and skillful design, it promises to become one of the ranking hospitals of the city, both on account of the men connected with it and the modern character of the building itself. Stuart Circle is being built by a corporation of physicians headed by Dr. Lewis C. Bosher, others interested are Dr. Charles R. Robins, Dr. Manfred Call, Dr. Clifton M. Miller, Dr. Robert S. Bosher, Dr. S. C. Bowen and Dr. E. P. Wright.

Coming into the management of a large hospital just at a time when its affairs were in a formative state, when a strong hand was necessary for leadership, Miss Van Vort took hold of the difficult problem assigned her on March 1, 1904, in a way which speedily swept difficulties aside. Her astute management brought commendation from the governing board, and her training school for nurses was accorded a national reputation. But Miss Van Vort will be missed by the poor of the city, in whose behalf she labored untiringly and with unselfish devotion. In a private hospital her opportunities for charitable work will naturally be restricted.

Miss Van Vort received her training in the Old Dominion Hospital, which was replaced by the Memorial. She was born and raised in Richmond and has spent by far the greater part of her life here. From the Old Dominion she went North for a course in the Philadelphia Orthopedic Hospital, completing her training as head of a department of the Johns Hopkins Hospital. For five years after leaving Johns Hopkins, Miss Van Vort did private nursing in Richmond.
